Rationale:

Values are a defining feature of our identity as human beings. In guiding our choices and priorities, they set the compass for the trajectory of our lives, drive human, social, and economic development, and the transition to a better world for all. Adopting and living by values such as peace, love, respect, honesty, responsibility, kindness, and cooperation gives meaning to and fulfillment in life, reinforces awareness of human worth, and promotes the well-being of individuals and society as a whole.

The values that each of us chooses to live by is a deeply personal matter and we have the freedom and responsibility to make our own choices as individuals. Yet at the same time, across the whole world, there is also a striking commonality about what each of us holds to be most important in life and it's apparent that there are some timeless values that can transcend differences and have often brought out the best in humanity. As members of one human family and one human race sharing the one home of the planet we all live on, this commonality should not be surprising.

Pursuant to Republic Act (R.A.) 11476 also known as the "GMRC and Values Education Act" which institutionalizes Good Manners and Right Conduct (GMRC) and Values Education in the K to 12 Curriculum, mandates DepEd to carry out appropriate training for teachers and educators on GMRC and their capacity to teach the subject especially the non-major in Values Education.

Align with this mission, the Department of Education MATATAG initiative aims to intensify the values formation of learners in the curriculum and teaching, embedding a culture of peace to address basic education challenges. The DepEd Order 13 s. 2023 adopts the National Learning Recovery Program (NLRP) in the Department of Education, prioritizing the socio-emotional needs of learners. Schools are encouraged to continuously assess the need for mental health intervention and psychosocial support, with strengthened referral systems to meet these needs.

As values must be "caught" and "taught," the adults involved are integral to the program's success, for young people learn best by example and are most receptive when what is shared is experienced. Establishing a values-based atmosphere, a culture of peace, caring, and respect, is essential for optimal exploration and development. Such a student-centered environment naturally enhances learning, as relationships based on trust, caring, and respect positively affect motivation, creativity, and affective and cognitive development.

Values play a crucial role in shaping the culture and dynamics of a workplace. The impact of values in the workplace is significant and can influence various aspects, including employee behavior, decision-making, team cohesion, and overall organizational success. Here are some key ways values affect the workplace, such as Employee behavior, Decision Making, Organizational Culture, and Innovation and Collaboration. The impact of values in the workplace is far-reaching, influencing both internal dynamics and external perceptions. Establishing and promoting positive values can contribute to a healthy organizational culture, employee satisfaction, and overall success.

Ethical leadership has a wide-ranging and enduring impact on organizational culture, employee satisfaction, external reputation, and overall performance. Organizations prioritizing ethical leadership are more likely to build a resilient, positive, and sustainable foundation for long-term success.

Objectives:

The conference aims to achieve the following objectives:

1. To encourage educators to view education as providing students with a philosophy of living, facilitating their overall growth, development, and choices so they may integrate themselves into the community and world at large with respect, confidence, and purpose.
2. Provide teachers with the knowledge and skills to create a value-based atmosphere education aligned with the DepEd MATATAG initiative.
3. Provide a platform for sharing research, best practices, and innovative approaches in the field of Values-Based Atmosphere.
4. Stimulate discussions on the impact of values on ethical leadership, spirituality, educational approaches, technology, social responsibility, and global perspectives.
5. Inspires teachers, guidance counselors, school administrators, social workers, public servants, and leaders to become role models in embodying the Civil Service Commission's Patriotism, Integrity, Excellence, and Spirituality.
