BAYANANIHAN SUMMIT 2025
Uniting to Raise the Next Generation of Young Agri-leaders
May 28-30, 2025

May 5, 2025

TO THE REGIONAL DIRECTORS

Department of Education
DepEd Complex, Meralco Avenue, Quezon City

Dear Sirs / Madams;

Warm greetings!

Last August 2024, we began the BayanAnihan Movement—a youth-led initiative that brought together 7,500 young farmers, fishers, and foresters across the country to champion local food security and community-based agricultural development. What started as a regional convergence has now grown into a national movement, with schools taking the lead in bringing BayanAnihan to life.

This coming May 28–30, 2025, we are co-organizing the BayanAnihan Summit – Public School Edition in partnership with the Department of Education, The National Association of Public Secondary School of the Philippines Inc., and the LGU of Silay City. It is a 3-day gathering of around 2,000 public school principals, TLE agriculture students, and partners in education and development. The goal is to build strong, youth-led ecosystems of learning and livelihood rooted in farming, fisheries, and forestry.

In connection thereto, may I request your Farm Schools to exhibit a Countryside Fair in this BayanAnihan Summit at the Silay City Public Plaza. May I further request that expenses in putting the exhibits and other related expenses shall be charged to School MOOE or any local school fund.

Thank you for your approval and may God bless you!

In love and service,

Uniting to Raise the Next Generation of Young Agri-leaders

Silay City, Negros Occidental

EVENT PRIMER

OVERVIEW

The BayanAnihan Summit – Public School Edition is a nationwide gathering that brings together public elementary and secondary school principals, TLE-agriculture students, and key partners in education and development to uplift and celebrate the next generation of Filipino agri-leaders. 'BayanAnihan' merges the root words 'bayan' (country), 'bayani' (hero), 'ani' (harvest), and 'bayanihan' (solidarity with others).

Launched in August 2024, the BayanAnihan Movement began as a youth-led initiative that brought together young farmers, fishers, and foresters across the islands. Now in 2025, the movement is growing through our public schools—where the future of food security begins in the classroom and takes root in the community.

Rooted in the word bayan or country, the BayanAnihan Summit – Public Secondary School Edition brings the movement into the heart of our school communities. While previous summits spanned Luzon, Visayas, and Mindanao, this edition focuses on empowering students and educators in public secondary schools—where the seeds of national transformation can be planted early. The summit honors young people in agriculture as modern-day bayani—heroes who will shape a food-secure and sustainable future. It highlights ani, the harvest, as a symbol both of the productivity and the potential of every student to contribute to national progress. At its core, the summit embraces bayanihan—the Filipino spirit of coming together—by creating a shared space for collaboration between schools, government, private institutions, and communities, all working side by side to support and grow the future changemakers in agriculture.

OBJECTIVES

1. Convergence: Create a space for public school students and educators to connect with peers, local leaders, and national partners in agriculture, fisheries, and forestry.
2. Knowledge: Facilitate knowledge transfer through highlighting significant topics, issues, and strategies in each agricultural sector
3. Opportunities: Facilitate concrete opportunities for young agri-leaders to access opportunities in investment, training, business and employment.
4. Action: Inspire participants to lead their own BayanAnihan initiatives within their schools and communities—applying what they've learned to local projects and youth-driven efforts.

ACTIVITIES

1. Conference: Activities that highlight significant topics, issues, and best practices, including panel discussions with industry and academe experts, and keynote speeches from advocates and thought leaders
2. Connection: Activities that provide opportunities for students and teachers to meet, exchange ideas, and build partnerships through networking spaces, trade fairs, and MOA signings with schools, agencies, and agri-groups.
3. Competition: Activities that celebrate talent and creativity of students such as quiz bees, fruit carving, slogan and poster making, and the BayanAnihan Race, all rooted in agri-based themes and values.
